Photography Courses East Anglia

Newsletter ● May – June 2024

Hi

Welcome to the June Newsletter for the Going Digital East Anglia region, for those that are not aware I took over the running of the region in April after Laura Galbraith stepped down to concentrate on running the Going Digital East of England region.

About me

I am Geraint Williams and the new owner of the Going Digital East Anglia region and will be tutoring workshops and running one-to-one experience days.

I have a passion for wildlife, nature and macro photography which has developed since starting to take photography seriously 10 years. I have always enjoyed sharing my knowledge with others and find that I learn from those I'm instructing whilst I'm helping them learning new skills. Over the last few years, I have been a member of a local camera club and had pictures exhibited in the East Anglia Federation (EAF) of the Photographic Alliance of Great Britain (PAGB) and is working towards achieving certification from the PAGB for my images. Tutoring courses allows me to combine teaching experience and passion for photography.

I can provide one-to-one tuition on his speciality subjects at our venues, and I'm also happy to visit you in your home to help you set up and get the best from your own computer, software and photography equipment.

Courses

Birds of Prey & Action, Crossing Barns, Essex

New date for a Birds of Prey Workshop at Crossing Temple Barns in Essex with the wonderful birds of prey from Eden Falconry. Photography the birds in static poses around Crossing Temple Barns including woodland scenes and capture them as the falconers fly the magnificent birds. There is no doubt that this workshop not only provides unique settings to photograph these magnificent birds but also a truly remarkable and memorable one. You will be able to hone your skills in this unique experience where you have exclusive access to a range of stunning birds of prey and locations.

- 14th September

Close-up & Macro, Flatford Mill, Suffolk

Join us at Field Studies Council training room at Flatford Mills where we'll be looking at how to photograph small objects and nature close up. This is a full day workshop, working in the classroom in the morning to look at theory, to ensure that you know where the relevant controls are on your camera and doing some practice indoors.

- 19th October

Introduction to Photography - Part 2 – Movement, Cromer, Norfolk

If you have attended an Introduction to Photography - Get Off Auto Workshop or are comfortable with the basics including Aperture Priority, this workshop teaches you how to photograph moving subjects to freeze or intentionally blur movement. The Cromer Pier, promenade, and beach will provide a backdrop and plenty of opportunities for learning how to take further control of your camera, master more modes and improve your composition and creativity.

- 5th October

My aims

My aim for the region is to develop a series of workshops and events across the entire region from Essex to the North Coast of Norfolk, and from the East Coast of the region to the Western boundary.

I have already introduced a new venue, Cromer on the North Coast of Norfolk and looking to add additional new venues across the region whilst keeping old venues as well. I have added a Close-up and Macro workshop at Flatford Mill in Suffolk which is at the heart of Constable country and where The Hay Wain was painted.

Please keep in touch to hear about exciting developments and get notification of new dates for workshops.

Contact details.

Please contact me if you want more details, have suggestions for venues, or for workshops you would like to see run in the East Anglia Region
